ClothTalk 022 - Déjà vu all over again

by Ben Killen on January 29th, 2007

What a week at ClothTalk central! Nonetheless, Tim and Ben manage to bring you one of their most captivating interviews yet—with collector Kirk Doan (www.kirkdoan.com). Do you know where the Kansas City, Chiefs got their name? Have you ever heard of Cotton Farming Merit Badge? Do you know who has the largest privately held Scouting Collection in existence? Ever heard of the Tribe of Mic-O-Say? There have also been a lot of other Scouting honor societies over the years. Also, Kirk shares with us that he uses Inland Marine Collectibles insurance. Have you ever thought of insuring your collection?

John Pannell brings us note from his blog (blog.oaimages.com). Chris tells us how to use an image in the wiki. Brandon fills us in on upcoming the Trade-O-Ree calendar. Beep Bepp reviews his Scout site surfing, and we all get to know Kirk Doan and his adventures in Scout collecting.

Phone us and record your story at 415-287-3263 or SKYPE directly to us at SKYPE user name: ClothTalk

ClothTalk 021 - The Merits of Scouting

by Ben Killen on January 15th, 2007

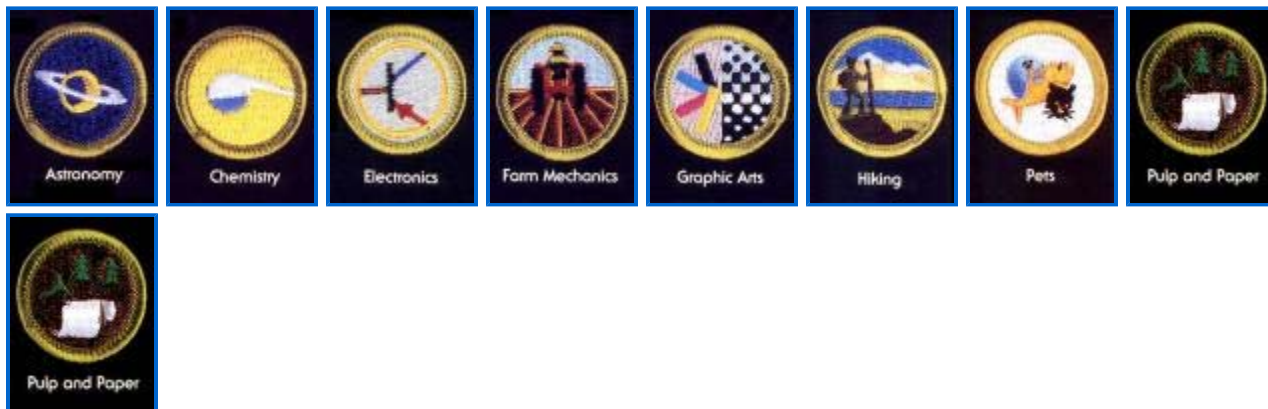

This episode Ben and Tim chat with Kyle McInnis—a Scout with an extremely unique patch collection. He has earned every merit badge the BSA offers, as well as 15 Eagle Palms!

Also, Chris brings us a great Scout History Wiki tip on uploading images, and Beep-Beep tells us about another great collecting resource on the internet: CampImages.com.

And we welcome OAIImages.com Webmaster: John Pannell.

Once again, thanks for listening! Greeting to all international listeners and our active US Military all over the world. Thank you for your service!
